Directory Assistance for Helping Agencies 211

Call 211 when you have a need but don't know who to call

Just as 911 is reserved for callers with emergencies, 211 is reserved for callers seeking health and social service referrals. 211 is toll-free from any landline or cell phone. 211 is answered 24 hours a day, 7 days a week by a certified Oklahoma service specialist who can refer you to the nearest health and social service agencies. You simply state your location in Oklahoma and the service you are seeking. The operator consults a database to give you a referral. The call is confidential. Translation services are available for callers not fluent in spoken English.

Call 211 for directory information for helping agencies

Do you need the telephone number of a health or social service organization? Call 211! Remember, the call to 211 is toll-free from any landline or cell phone, 24 hours a day. When your Love County Health and Social Services Directory is not handy, 211 is the number to call.

211 Database on the Web

To conduct your own search of the 211 database: <http://www.referweb.net/tulh/>

*The list of services and agencies in the 211 database is too lengthy to state here. But it includes free and low-cost services such as financial assistance, food, clothing, housing, counseling, disaster relief, medical assistance, military veteran assistance, and more.
